

Wind River Backcountry Expedition

Day 1 --Arrive or meet at Denver International Airport; transfer to Horsetooth Reservoir and do a short hike and some bouldering before setting up camp we overnight at Horsetooth. Instructors go through gear and the schedule as well as introduction to trip planning.

Day 2 -- We wake up early and transfer to Lander, WY we buy supplies for our trip in small groups with each group being in charge of food for a day then we hike in Sinks Canyon, we overnight at Louis Lake Lodge and pack our backpacks for an early departure into the wilderness.

Day 3 -- We wake up early and backpack into the Winds from Pinto Park near Worthen Reservoir we hike 5-8 miles teaching navigation and route finding along the way, team members have a chance to lead today.

Day 4-- We continue hiking into the Wind rivers with opportunities to fish, photograph and learn backcountry travel skills along the way. We camp near Stough creek.

Day 5-- Today we day hike and have an opportunity to fly fish, we rest more today and begin prep for our summit day.

Day 6-- Today we review the plan for summit day and backpacking 4-7miles to the base of Wind River peak.

Day 7-- We day hike today up to the continental divide practicing our navigation skills and making a written plan for summit day.

Day 8 -Backcountry Summit Wind River Peak

Day 9 -Hike out and return to Louis Lake Lodge

Day 10 –Drive to Denver area and camp.

Day 11-- Depart Denver International Airport

